

A photograph showing two men in a greenhouse. The man on the left, wearing a light grey button-down shirt, is holding a large, round, green melon. The man on the right, wearing a blue polo shirt, is also holding a similar melon. They are both looking at the melons with interest. The melons are hanging from a vine with large green leaves. In the background, there are more plants and a white structure, possibly part of the greenhouse.